

Changing Ownership

Retail food licenses are associated to the current ownership and location, and are non-transferable.

If you're planning to purchase, or have already purchased, an existing food service operation and aren't making any changes to the establishment, menu or equipment, we may consider your application for license without a plan review. Before you can apply for a retail food license, you need to get a sales tax license from the Department of Revenue.